

Adele Lupton

I have worked in education for the past 10 years, initially as a class teacher across the primary phase, I also have experience of being a literacy leader, Deputy Headteacher, SENCO and am currently the acting Head of School at Alexandra Infants.' My particular areas of interest are English and Safeguarding.

I first became a Governor five years ago at a previous school. I continue to be responsible for providing relevant information in order to be held to account for actions taken in relation to improving the education and provision for all of our pupils. I enjoy working with all members of the Governing body to effectively self-evaluate our strengths and next developmental steps in this challenging influential role.
